

A photograph of a dog and a cat sitting on a light-colored, textured surface. The dog, a beagle mix with white, brown, and black fur, is sitting behind the cat, wrapped in a brown and white striped blanket. The cat, a Siamese with dark brown fur and white paws, is sitting in front of the dog, also wrapped in the same blanket. The blanket is pulled up over their heads, leaving only their faces visible. The background is a soft, out-of-focus light pink or beige color.

The comfort of heartworm
protection is like a warm blanket.

AMERICAN HEARTWORM
SOCIETY™
EST. 1974